HANDICAPPED.

The man who started to run a race in chains and fetters would be visibly handicapped. No one would expect him to succeed. The man who runs the race of life when his digestive and nutritive organs are diseased is equally handicapped. In the one case his strength is over-weighted, in the other it is under-weighted. Success demands above all else a sound stomach.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. $3,000 FORTFERT will be paid by WORLD'S DISPENSARY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION, Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y., if they cannot show the original signature of the individual volunteering the testimonial below, and also of the writers of every testimonial among the thousands which they are constantly publishing, thus proving their genuineness.

Weak Hearts

Are due to indigestion. Ninety-nine out of every one hundred people who have heart trouble can remember when it was simple indigestion. It is a scientific fact that all cases of heart disease, not organic, are not only traceable to, but are the direct result of indigestion. All food taken into the stomach which fails of perfect digestion ferments and swells the stomach, pushing up against the heart. This interferes with the action of the heart, and in the course of time that delicate but vital organ becomes diseased.

MEAT MALT

And relieves the stomach of all nervous strain and the heart of all pressure. Bottles only, $1.00. Six bottles 24c. The trial size, which sells for 50c. Prepared by E. C. DOWDY & CO., CHICAGO.

LOUISVILLE, KY., January 28, 1903. Gentlemen—Having examined your Meat and Malt preparation, and being thoroughly convinced of its composition and mode of manufacture, I can state that it is a most valuable and reliable tonic and nutritive agent, and is especially adapted to the treatment of all diseases attended with debility. Yours truly, L. D. KASTENHORN, M. D., Louisville College of Pharmacy.

CALEB POWERS SPEAKS IN HIS OWN BEHALF.

Makes no Bid for Sympathy, but in a Many Way Discusses the Testimony, Basing His Plea Solely on the Ground of His Innocence.

ANALYZES CLOSELY EVIDENCE OF COMMONWEALTH.

Declares that no One but a Lunatic Would Enter into a Plot to do Murder and Then Lend an Assassin His Office as a Place of Ambush.

Georgetown, Ky., August 27.—Before an audience that filled every seat and packed every aisle and window sill in the Circuit Court room, and before a jury that leaned forward and listened as attentively as if this had been the first instead of the fourth week of the trial, former Secretary of State Caleb Powers, charged as an accessory before the fact to the murder of William Goebel, argued his own case for two hours to night in a manner at once lawyer-like and convincing, and free from any unmanly bid for sympathy. Two and a half hours of the time allowed the defendant to argue for his life and liberty yet remain, and the argument will be resumed at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, and concluded at 11:30, or perhaps at noon, as Judge Robbins usually allows the speaker and the jury several brief intervals of rest in the course of an argument.

MAKES FAVORABLE IMPRESSION. Starting with a discussion of the political question with which the case is inseparably involved, and making several straightforward statements that it is conceded were hazardous before a jury of Goebel men, the defendant passed on to a discussion of his case which, while it was not fairly under way when he was interrupted by the adjournment of court, impressed his hearers very favorably, and judging from appearance made a favorable impression upon the twelve Bourbon county men into whose hands his fate will be committed at the conclusion of the argument of Commonwealth's Attorney Robert B. Franklin, who will follow him tomorrow afternoon.

A POLITICAL QUESTION. After his preliminary remarks and an appeal to the jury not to let political passion or political affiliation influence the verdict, Powers said that the question of his guilt or innocence was a political question, and that the prosecution expected the jury to decide it as such, but that he did not believe that they would do so, but to the contrary believed that they would accord him the same hearing and grant him the same impartial trial that they would grant a man from their own country.

EFFECT OF GOEBEL'S DEATH. He then pointed out the fact that the death of William Goebel could mean nothing but disaster to the Republican party at the contest, and argued that he could not have had a motive to procure his death, then, taking up the course of procedure adopted after the murder, he showed that many of the men at first charged with the crime or complicity in the plot were afterwards admitted to be guilty, and argued that the prosecution had from the beginning made an error in trying to fasten the guilt upon Republican leaders and in trying to prove that the murder resulted from a political conspiracy.

NARROWED DOWN TO TWO. Showing that the prosecution had now narrowed the actual commission of the crime down to the question of whether Jim Howard or Henry Yontsey did it, he said that there was not one word of testimony to show that he knew or communicated with Jim Howard before the assassination, or that he knew Yontsey before January 1, 1900, or spoke to him about William Goebel before January 29.

"UNKNOWN MAN" ELIMINATED. In the course of the argument the defendant said that he did not know whether Yontsey and Howard and Taylor entered into any conspiracy, and was not arguing Taylor's case, but would leave that to him. He said that no matter whether Yontsey or Howard did the killing, the man to the jury unknown was eliminated from the case as a misfit, and that on the proof relied upon by the prosecution no man of those brought from the mountains committed the crime.

The speaker had just declared that none but a lunatic would enter into a plot and lend an assassin his office for a place of ambush, when he was brother, if he wanted Senator Goebel killed, should give him the wrong key, but now Col. Hendrick explains that it was because he was waiting for Jim Howard.

"Golden tells you that my brother told him he did not know to whom he had given the key, and then tells you that he and John Powers went to Gen. Collier to get a stop put to the murder, which he says John Powers was trying to inaugurate. Isn't it a reasonable story? And isn't it reasonable that Golden, who tells you that he said 'It's a damned good thing' when Goebel was killed, would go to Gen. Collier to remonstrate against the murder? If he had really wanted to frustrate the plans he says were afoot, why would he not have gone to Warden Hancock at the prison, or to E. T. Lillard, or to some other friend of Goebel's?"

"Mr. Lawson, if two men were in a conspiracy to burn your house, and one of them concluded that he didn't want to do it, and went to the other conspirator to remonstrate with him instead of coming to you, and if, after the fire, he said, 'It's a damned good thing,' would you believe that he was in earnest about not wanting the crime committed?"

"I am gullible of the charge against me as God is my judge," said Powers in conclusion, "and I appeal to you not for mercy, but for justice, for I have done no wrong."

"I could have foreseen that harm would come to Senator Goebel at the hands of the mountain men I would have cut off my right arm before I would have organized the movement to bring them to Frankfort. Could I have foreseen events of the future, could they swing back the golden curtain and peer into the mysteries of what is to come, many mistakes would be guarded against. Could the citizens of Johnstown have foreseen that the flood would come they could have saved their lives by flight. Could the dwellers at the base of Mt. Pelee have known that the flood of fire would come to destroy them, they could have saved themselves."

"I could not foresee that William Goebel would be killed, and I had no part in it. Were the witnesses I have had summoned to this trial to conspire to rob a bank or kill a man, could I be held guilty?"

ASKS SIMPLE JUSTICE. "I do not ask you for sympathy. I ask you to acquit me because I am not guilty. You men know something of restraint because you have been in charge of officers during this trial, but you cannot know what it is to be in a prison cell three years to associate with criminals, to be gazed at by curiosity seekers, and you cannot know what a verdict of acquittal would mean to me."

"It would mean that once more I could walk abroad a free man and could see again the face of loved ones. My father passed into the spirit land a short time ago and my mother is unable to be present at this trial because of her infirmities. She asks you from afar for a just verdict and the acquittal of her son that her last days may be peaceful and that she may not go down to the grave distrustful mankind."

"Gentlemen, I have taxed your patience too long. I commit this case to you, trusting that you will be granted the light of wisdom from above in deciding it."

A Purgative Pleasure. If you ever took Dr. Williams' Little Early Risers for biliousness or constipation you know what a purgative pleasure is. These famous little pills cleanse and liver and rid the system of all bile without producing unpleasant effects. Farm prosperity is so abundant in Kansas and the Western States and labor so scarce, that daily passenger trains are held up by the farmers and great inducements offered to the travelers to stop and go to work. Clifton (Ind.) Cliftonian.

"I never could understand why my brother, if he wanted Senator Goebel killed, should give him the wrong key, but now Col. Hendrick explains that it was because he was waiting for Jim Howard."

"Golden tells you that my brother told him he did not know to whom he had given the key, and then tells you that he and John Powers went to Gen. MOUNTAIN WELCOME TO BELKNAP

Immense Crowd Greeted Him at London.

FULL OF ENTHUSIASM. Republican Standard-Bearer Talks to the Point.

Importance of All Uniting to Restore Commonwealth to Its Rightful Position.

SAFEGUARDS NEEDED FOR ALL. London, Ky., 29.—Col. Morris B. Belknap, the Republican nominee for Governor, was the busiest man in London to-day, and the most sought-after individual on the Laurel county fair grounds, where, according to the statement of Secretary E. A. Clifton, over 7,000 people paid admission to see the fair and hear Col. Belknap speak. It proved to be a strenuous day for Col. Belknap, as he was the central figure in a demonstration that proved a revelation to his friends and admirers.

Col. Belknap, accompanied by Hon. Joseph A. Craft, reached London at 3:10 this morning on the Louisville and Nashville train after an all-night's ride, and was assigned to quarters at the Riley Hotel. By 7 o'clock he was astride and on the street and, in company with Col. Dillon, Congressman Vincent Boring, Judge Robert Boyd and several other representative Republicans, made the rounds of the various business houses. His tour embraced all classes of people, for early as the hour was, the streets were thronged with excursionists from all parts of Laurel and adjoining counties, and he met and shook hands with several hundred before 9 o'clock, the hour he was to visit the fair grounds.

His entrance to the grounds called for a repetition of his early morning work, but on a larger scale. Standing beside Judge Boring, Col. Belknap, without moving from a space less than six feet square, met and grasped the hands of more than 3,000 people. The crowd surged from all parts of the grounds when his arrival became known, and stood packed about him awaiting their turn to shake his hand. It was a remarkable demonstration, participated in by not a few women and hundreds of voters, whom excursion trains had brought from Knox, Clay, Owensley, Leslie, Jackson, Rockcastle, Whitley and Pulaski counties.

THIS LOOKS GOOD TO ME. "I want to see the next Governor," was the remark heard on all sides, and Col. Belknap, who had got busy hours before, stood laughing and perspiring, often exclaiming: "All right, boys, I am glad to be with you. This looks good to me."

"We have been buying goods from your house for years, Mr. Belknap, and we are for you for anything you want," was a statement the Republican nominee was called upon to acknowledge, which he did in his usual happy, pleasing manner.

At 11:20 o'clock, the announcement was made that Col. Belknap would address the crowd from the speaker's stand, resulting in a stampede being made for the race course, facing the stand and amphitheater, the latter with a seating capacity of 3,000 being packed to suffocation. On the race course was a sea of upturned faces directed to the speaker's stand on which were seated Congressman Boring, Col. Dillon, former State Senator Christian Stege, of Louisville, Judge Black, candidate for State Treasurer, Col. Belknap, Judge Robert Boyd and Col. T. C. Williams.

Congressman Boring introduced Col. Belknap as the next Governor of Kentucky, and a man who all his life had been identified with the business of the State, a gentleman and soldier.

STATE DEVELOPMENT. Tumultuous applause greeted Col. Belknap as he acknowledged the introduction. His remarks were limited to a five-minute effort with State development his theme. Col. Belknap said: "Ladies and Gentlemen, and fellow-citizens of Kentucky. It gives me unbounded pleasure to meet every one of you to-day, you, the men of the hills and mountains, the representative plain people of Kentucky. We are a union for the good of Kentucky and the re-establishment of the grand old Commonwealth to its proper station in the galaxy of States where rightfully belongs."

"It has been said by you who reside in the mountains and the valleys are not of the standard that go to make up the men of our cities, but I say to you when we get close together, our eyes are on the same level, our height, about the same standard, is equal, though our position in life may appear to you different, and we all have the interest of the good old State at heart. It is a common interest that cannot be lightly brushed aside."

SPEAKS TO THE POINT. "I will not attempt to tax your patience to-day by a discussion of public questions, but will briefly define my attitude in this campaign. I heard good advice given at the beginning of this campaign, when the subject of speech-making was under discussion, and that is, if you have anything to say, say it, and then stop talking. I don't belong to the class of public speakers who have doubtless often entertained you with feverish flights of oratory. The gift was taken from me at an early age."

"I was in the country visiting some friends when I was a little shaver, and on this particular farm was an ancient mule who persisted in disturbing the quiet of the atmosphere by continually braying. I said to Mandy, an old colored woman: 'That mule makes lots of noise.' 'Yes,' replied Mandy, 'if the old fool would only keep his mouth shut some folks would not know but what he was a horse.'"

BELIEVES IN KENTUCKY. "I think it is time to talk. I am a firm believer in the future of Kentucky, in the development of her resources, in the upbuilding of her business interests, and I say to you, my friends, it is within your power to promote her welfare to greater possibilities. This I believe, though I am aware much work will have to be done to accomplish this, but Kentucky men are fully equal to the task."

"For example, take the timber and coal products you are particularly familiar with. If you bring about a condition that will exclude the investment of capital to develop these, then you are the losers, but if, on the other hand, you invite co-operation of capital by the upbuilding of your State, her schools, stamping out lawlessness of whatever character by the elevation of the judiciary above the level of partisan politics, you have provided a safeguard by which capital coming within the borders of your State will profit. We will have to do it so that Kentucky will appear to them as safe as any State in the Union. I have had considerable business transactions with you people, and I propose to enlist my energies and do my utmost to bring about these conditions if given a chance."

WARMLY ENCOURAGED. When Col. Belknap had concluded, many ladies crowded to the railing and grasped his hand, proffering words of encouragement, and in this they were ably seconded by hundreds of the sterner sex. Judge Black followed Col. Belknap briefly, calling attention to the present obnoxious State administration.

Col. Belknap was agreeably surprised at the extent of to-day's demonstration on the reception accorded him. It is claimed by politicians here to have been the largest crowd which ever assembled in London to hear an address by a gubernatorial candidate. Col. Belknap left at midnight for Springfield, where he will be the guest of the Washington County Fair Association to-morrow.

In 1830 the value of manufactured products in the United States was, in round terms, one billion dollars; in 1900 it was over thirteen billions. The noteworthy feature of this tremendous growth is that it occurred in defiance of the prediction of the Cobdenites, who declared that our efforts to create a great manufacturing industry in defiance of what they were pleased to call natural laws must inevitably result in failure.—San Francisco Chronicle.

NERVES GAVE WAY—PE-RU-NA CURED

Mrs. X. Schneider, 2409 Thirty-seventh Place, Chicago, Ill., writes:

"After taking several remedies without result, I began in January, 1902, to take your valuable remedy, Peru-na. I was a complete wreck. Had palpitation of the heart, cold hands and feet, nervous prostration, no appetite, trembling, sinking feeling nearly all the time. You said I was suffering with systemic catarrh, and I believe that I received your help in the nick of time. I followed your directions carefully and can say to-day that I am well again. I cannot thank you enough for my cure. I will always be your debtor. I have already recommended Peru-na to my friends and neighbors and they all praise it. I wish that all suffering women would try it. I testify this according to the truth."

Mrs. Fanny Klavdatscher, of Summitville, N. Y., writes as follows:

"For three months I suffered with pain in the back and in the region of the kidneys, and a dull, pressing sensation in the abdomen, and other symptoms of pelvic catarrh."

"But after taking two bottles of Peru-na I am entirely well, better than I ever was."—Mrs. Fanny Klavdatscher.

"Drop a nickel in the slot and draw out a Democratic judge and jury."—Belknap.

McCARTNEY's latest in politics is to have all the editors of Republican newspapers arrested and thereby stop their publication.

If editors publish the facts about the official acts of Beckham and Supt. McChesney, their correspondents are assaulted, whipped and arrested.

If a Republican newspaper publishes anything about any of the men on the Democratic ticket that discredits them in the eyes of the voters, warrants of arrest are issued for the editors of such papers.

COLONEL Belknap has been in various parts of the State within the past week, in the interest of his candidacy, and he has received encouragement on every hand. Business men, regardless of politics, declare they are for him.

CONVICTED by perjured testimony, paid for in pelf, and found guilty by solid Democratic juries, has been the fate of Caleb Powers, charged with conspiracy to assassinate Goebel. They are not Republicans, who, for a price, swear away the life or liberty of any one.

OUR nominees for Circuit Judge and Commonwealth's Attorney are W. Scott Morrison, of Owensboro, and M. L. Heavin, of Hartford; two strong and competent men. We will make it warm for their opponents, Birkhead and Ringo, on November 3rd.

BECKHAM's futile effort to juggle with the pardon records in his vain attempt to compare his record with that of former Governors Bradley and Brown, does not relieve the burden of explaining why he pardoned Jo Raleigh, the murderer and would-be rapist of a fourteen-year-old girl, simply because he was a Democrat.

HON. M. L. HEAVIN, who was nominated last Tuesday, at Owensboro, for Commonwealth's Attorney, is a man of unquestioned integrity and the finest legal attainments. He is courteous and affable, never wanting in loyalty to his friends. The Sixth district never had a better opportunity to secure the services of an able and efficient attorney. He is a shrewd and skillful campaigner and should be defeated the man who does it will know he has had a race.

In another column appears the history of a young wife's disgrace, imperturbed by a villain, whose duty it was, as one of the Seven Hills Chautauqua police, to protect and guard from harm or danger, guests at that entertainment. How often is pure innocent womanhood led into paths of the blackest sin and the brilliancy of the fondest jewel of a father, husband, or brother, darkened and completely destroyed by a scoundrel, who wins her confidence and unmerited friendship.

"I intended to vote the Democratic ticket," declared a prominent man today, "but after the Powers verdict I changed my mind. I don't believe there was ever any conspiracy to kill Goebel, and don't believe that Powers had anything to do with Goebel's death. I don't believe he deserves to be hanged, and, as it is claimed, if the Republicans are elected this fall, it will mean justice for the alleged conspirators. I'm going to vote for the Republicans—Paducah Sun."

Brother, you voice the sentiment of many of the best and purest men of the Democratic party, scores of whom will not say so much as you, but will do just what you declare you intend to do—vote for the Republicans.

W. SCOTT MORRISON, of Owensboro, who is the candidate of the liberal, intelligent, thinking voters of the Sixth Judicial district, said, in accepting the nomination, Tuesday: "I will do nothing in my canvass which will not be in keeping with the high

DEATH FOR POWERS.

Crowning Infamy Reached at Last—Prisoner Adjudged Guilty by the Jury at 11:20 Saturday Morning.

THE VICTIM WAS UNMOVED BY HIS TERRIBLE FATE.

"We, the jury, find the defendant guilty and fix his punishment at death."

With these words uttered by the Scott Circuit Clerk, the crowning act in the diabolical political conspiracy to "hang Powers and damn the Republican party," was consummated at Georgetown at 11:20 Saturday morning.

The jury trying Caleb Powers for conspiracy in the assassination of Senator Goebel, after being in consultation four hours and twenty minutes, filed into the court room at 11:17.

Powers sat perfectly quiet during these dramatic proceedings and his face presented a study as the verdict was being read. He was the picture of despair and disappointment, but there was no trace of fear and he seemed absolutely unawed. At its close a calm smile was perceptible on his face.

As the jury was being polled the prisoner turned his head, lent over and chatted earnestly with his counsel.

Immediately after the verdict was read, your correspondent approached George Wyatt, foreman of the jury, and asked him to relate the details of how the verdict was reached.

"We have agreed not to tell how the balloting was or any of the proceedings in the jury room."

"Will you say whether there was any division on the question of guilt?" was asked.

"We don't care to discuss it," was his laconic reply.

Immediately after the polling and dismissal of the jury, many persons in the court room gathered about the condemned man and offered their hands in sympathy and words of encouragement, but he seemed to be less perturbed than most of those who called to sympathize. As he left the court room to go back to prison, a large number followed him for some distance, but no sort of demonstration either of disapproval or approval marked any stage of the proceedings from the time the verdict was announced till the prison doors closed on the prisoner.

An interview was sought with Powers before he left the court room, but he declined to talk at that time.

office to which I aspire." The people of the district have a splendid opportunity to elevate a man to the judgeship, who is not only eminently qualified, but a high-toned, intelligent gentleman. If fitness has anything whatever to do with the selection of a Circuit Judge in this district, Morrison's majority will be overwhelming.

REPUBLICANS are informed by Democratic newspapers that only a small "per cent" of them are qualified for jury service in the State of Kentucky. According to a Democratic view of what is required of a man to be a qualified juror, this has been clearly demonstrated, for Democratic officers scrupulously avoid summoning any man of Republican principles for jury service. The law says if you are a citizen, twenty-one years old, a house-keeper, sober, temperate, discreet and of good demeanor you are qualified to serve on a jury in the trial of any criminal penal or civil case. When you think of it just right, are there not about as many Republicans who are sober, temperate, discreet and of good demeanor as there are Democrats?

CALEB POWERS was, by a jury of twelve partisan Democrats, found guilty of the charge of conspiring to kill William Goebel, a Democrat, and his punishment was fixed at hanging until dead. Curtis Jett was, recently, by a jury of twelve Democrats, found guilty of killing J. B. Marcum, a Republican, and his punishment was fixed at confinement in the penitentiary for life. There is no pretense that Powers fired the shot that killed Goebel, for he was at Louisville when Goebel was killed at Frankfort. The only charge against him is that he knew that Goebel was to be killed. Thus two Democratic juries that tried him and Jett, said, by their verdicts, that it is a greater offense to know that a man is to be killed, if that man is a Democrat, than it is to kill a man, if that man is a Republican.

A SENSATION

Prominent Baptist Minister Files a Suit for Divorce.

The Wife Tells a Horrible Story of Her Shame.

Accuses Chautauqua Policeman Hargin of Compassing Her Ruin by Fear of Exposure.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 1.—One of the most sensational suits ever instituted in the Daviess circuit court was filed in the office of the circuit clerk Tuesday afternoon. The suit was instituted by Rev. W. H. Ferguson, a Baptist minister, asking to be granted an absolutely divorce from his wife Mrs. Clarie Ferguson, and thereby hangs a tale. It tells of a woman's downfall, of a wife's shame and a grief-stricken husband, bemoaning the fact that had been so cruel to him.

In the petition filed by Mr. Ferguson, allegations sensational in the extreme are made. Mrs. Ferguson is accused of being untrue to her marriage vows and R. Hargin is named as co-respondent.

The story as told by the woman is shocking in its every detail and the cowardly and brutal conduct of a man in uniform is disclosed to the world.

They were married the 18th of last September and the honeymoon was spent at Brushy Fork, for it was there he took her among his relatives and friends and the members of his church, who love their minister. Since their marriage and until a few days ago they lived happily together trusting implicitly one in the other.

When the Chautauqua meeting was held Rev. Ferguson rented a tent on the grounds and there he camped with his beautiful young wife. A few days before the Chautauqua closed Rev. Ferguson was called to Whitesville to fill the pulpit of a fellow minister. He was gone several days and during his absence Mrs. Ferguson became acquainted with C. R. Scott, one of the Chautauqua policemen. They soon became quite friendly and Scott was frequent visitor to Ferguson tent. She said however, that there was nothing wrong in her relationship with Scott until one evening he embraced and kissed her without her permission. Unknown to her Hargin, who was also a policeman and wore a uniform, was standing just outside of the tent and was a witness to Scott's actions. Rushing into the tent he displayed his badge of authority and Mrs. Ferguson said in her confession to her husband, made her an improper proposal. She at first refused to have anything to say to him, but he threatened to take her to headquarters. She begged him to leave her, but he stubbornly refused and after more threats of arrest and exposure she complied with his demands. The next day Mr. Ferguson returned from Whitesville and rejoined his wife. When she met him she held a rubber ball in her hand and playfully struck him with it. He asked her where she got it and she replied that she found it. The same afternoon the preacher and his wife were seated in front of the Methodist building when they were joined by another minister. Seeing the ball in her hand he remarked that he saw the policeman give it to her and in a jesting way told Mr. Ferguson to keep his eye upon the man with a badge.

When left alone with his wife Mr. Ferguson upbraided her for telling him of falsehood as when she got the ball. With that she began to cry and to his wonder and amazement confessed to him all that had happened during his absence. He couldn't believe it and with tears streaming down her face she again told him the story of her shame. They gave up the tent and left the park at once. Going back to his home at Brushy Fork he called the members of his church together and told them everything.

After the meeting of the church, accompanied by several staunch friends Mr. Ferguson came to Owensboro. He brought his wife with him and they both went directly to the office of his attorney. He made known his mission and the papers were prepared and there in the presence of the attorney, the wife again made the confession detailed above. She told what a loving and devoted husband he had been to her and how happy they had once been. During the recital the wronged husband buried his face in his hands and sobbed as if his heart would break.

With a farewell glance at the woman from whom he was soon to separate forever, the minister left the office and returned to his country home, there to try and forget his great misfortune and the woman who had proved false to him.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

Young Plants

Every farmer knows that some plants grow better than others. Soil may be the same and seed may seem the same but some plants are weak and others strong.
And that's the way with children. They are like young plants. Same food, same home, same care but some grow big and strong while others stay small and weak.
Scott's Emulsion offers an easy way out of the difficulty. Child weakness often means starvation, not because of lack of food, but because the food does not feed.
Scott's Emulsion really feeds and gives the child growing strength.
Whatever the cause of weakness and failure to grow—Scott's Emulsion seems to find it and set the matter right.

Henry Kink's store house building at Westfield, and contents, consisting of about $3,000 worth of goods, was destroyed by fire Wednesday night. Judge Settle, of Court of Appeals, in an opinion Wednesday, refused to modify the judgment of the Ohio Circuit Court rendered at the recent August term granting a mandatory injunction against the Rough River Telephone Company in favor of the Cumberland Telephone Company, which judgment directed the Home Company to move certain of its poles on the streets of Hartford which come in contact with the Cumberland lines.

FAITHLESS SPOUSE

Leaves family at Calhoon to go West he Said.

But a Letter From Former Pretty Servant Girl Indicates He May be in Cincinnati.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 1.—If Mr. H. O. Schroeter, lately of Calhoon, can be located he will in, all probability, be confronted with the charge of bigamy. He left his wife and family at Calhoon last week, telling them to look after his photograph gallery while he went to Colorado and sought a new location. He promised when he got well established in the West that he would send for his family.

Mr. Schroeter bade his wife and children a fond farewell the first part of last week and came to Owensboro, enroute, as he said, to Colorado. Only a day or so after he left, a letter came addressed to him bearing a Cincinnati post mark. The address was in the handwriting of a woman, and the wife at once became suspicious. Her grounds were well founded, for when she opened the letter and read the contents, it proved to be from a lady who was formerly his employ as a house girl.

Unless Schroeter has provided false to this lady he has lied to his wife and has gone to Cincinnati to join the former house girl and marry her.

The chagrined wife at once consulted an attorney over the troubles. He advised her to swear out an attachment for alimony against the probability of her husband. His lawful wife will eventually sue for a divorce.

Schroeter has conducted a floating photographic gallery on Green river for the last seven years. He worked at his vocation at Livermore, Hartford and Calhoon. He has two sons nearly grown. His wife is about forty years of age and is an unusually attractive woman. They were always highly thought of at Calhoon and Livermore. The young lady was employed by them about a year ago. She, too, is a pretty woman. She is about twenty-three years of age.

Schroeter has for the past three or four years spent the winter season with his photograph gallery at Hartford, and has during that time made many warm friends who will be greatly shocked to learn of his unfaithfulness to his family.

BRIEF NOTES.

A farmer residing near Otesgo, Mich., killed his daughter through a mistake.

It is announced that the American cotton crop for the season of 1902-03 amounted to 10,727,556 bales, against 10,680,680 last year.

Henry F. Kevill, of St. Louis, who a month ago, killed the girl to whom he had been secretly married, committed suicide last night with the same revolver.

Secretary of the treasure Shaw yesterday visited the World's Fair grounds at St. Louis. It is expected that he will appoint a disbursing agent to handle the Government appropriation of $5,000,000.

Four masked men broke into the county jail at Indianapolis, Neb., and attempted to blow off the locks of the steel cage occupied by Charles M. McMillon awaiting trial on a charge of murder. The jailer thwarted their plans.

Because she would not leave St. Louis with him, William Schlicker shot his wife and killed himself. While looking for the wounded man, two police officers shot and severely wounded each other, each thinking he was firing on the fugitive.

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4.

Minutes Ohio County Teachers' Institute.

The Ohio County Teachers' Institute met in Hartford, Ky., August 24, 1903. House called to order by Supt. DeWeese.

In the absence of Rev. E. W. Coakley, Prof. W. P. Dickey, of Georgetown, conducted the devotional exercises by reading those very familiar but encouraging words found in the 23rd Psalm.

Election of officers was next in order. Prof. M. M. Faugender was elected Vice President and Belle Shown Secretary.

Then while the body had a few minutes recess, the teachers were enrolled. After the house was again called to order, the Instructor, Prof. Geo. W. Chapman, addressed the audience in a very interesting and impressive manner. He desires to impress on the minds of our teachers the great importance of leading our pupils to form high ideals.

Prof. W. P. Dickey then made a talk in the interest of the Georgetown college. Noon.

First—The Pupil. Prof. O. M. Shultz addressed the teachers on the subject of First Impressions. He wishes to stamp on our minds the importance of making the first impressions in an attractive and useful way, and learn about the child's early impressions, so if they are not good, to try to turn them from the wrong to the right.

Later influences that determine his destiny, was next discussed by Prof. M. M. Faugender. He thinks the best way to lead a child in the right, is to set the best example by your own conduct and by leading it to always to reach up for what is above it. Our Instructor then gave us a very attractive talk, in which he stated, that he believed there is a live spark for the good in every child, and it may some day be a burning blaze, if it has a teacher that is capable of reaching and feeding it with the bits of love and help that it requires.

Second—The Teacher. M. D. Maddox addressed the audience on the subject of Personal Habits. He believes if we train the child in the way it should go, the teacher must be a perfect model at all times.

High Education was next discussed by A. P. Taylor. He thinks if it be possible let the teacher have the benefit of a high education.

Miss Fannie Renter read a very interesting paper on the Teacher's Preparation. She stated that she believed it to be wrong to have more than one grade of teachers, as it deprives so many bright minds of the best instruction. Recess.

Next, Miss Louana Ford read a very attractive paper on Personal Appearance in the school room.

Wm. Park stated on the subject of Executive Ability, that system is the secret of good government. I. S. Mason continued the subject. He says we must first learn to govern self; and, also, to be sympathetic.

Two methods of governing, love and fear, was next discussed by the Instructor. He believes we can rule by love if we never disable it. E. W. Patterson thinks love and fear are inseparable; and that physical punishment is sometimes a quicker and better way than loving them to death.

Fourth—Spelling. The Comparative Value of Old and New Methods was introduced by Burch Shields. He believes the written method is the only essential one.

A. A. Brown asked to be excused on the subject of the Spelling Bee. It was then handled by Clarence Bennett. He stated that a review of every four or five weeks is good to break the monotony, and, also, instructive, if conducted in the proper manner.

The subject, Diacritical Marks, was thoroughly discussed by H. E. Taylor and the Instructor.

The program being finished, the body was dismissed to meet again at 8 p. m.

Institute was called to order Tuesday morning, August 25, 1903, by Supt. DeWeese. Rev. J. C. Pettie being absent, Prof. O. M. Shultz conducted devotional exercises.

Appropriately was then given for announcements.

Roll called and each one answered by giving his reasons for teaching. Minutes were then read and approved. First—Reading. The subject of Primary Reading was clearly and impressively discussed by Miss Dora Gibson. She favors the word and sentence method. He calls it only a new "fad" that will soon cease to exist. Recess.

Mr. Wilson next addressed the audience on the subject—Schools in Texas. Reading was then continued by E. W. Patterson. He also favors the word and sentence method. Moses Coggage thinks some may use that method, but he cannot.

Next, Prof. O. M. Shultz pointed out the many benefits to be derived from a good system of Supplementary Reading. The following is a syn-tem that he once used: Form an agreement for each one to read as much of such books as he may have and then take time to discuss what has been read during the time for recitation. To get the material, he would have each one to buy as many books as they can and then they may exchange. He thinks reading is the only channel by which we may lead the rising generation to higher life.

What Place has Literature in the Common Schools? was then discussed by Supt. Wilson. He believes the feelings of the child are cultivated by the study of systematic literature, and by this means we may bring tears to their eyes rather than blood to their cheeks.

To what extent should Arithmetic be taught, if at all, in first and second grades was handled by I. S. Mason. He thinks it can be taught successfully in those grades. Noon.

After singing and calling of the roll, Methods of Assigning Lessons was introduced by E. W. Crowe. He stated that it is necessary to be a good judge of both the pupil and the subject to be assigned, in order to assign the work properly. Our Instructor would assign lessons to suit the majority of the class.

Methods of conducting the class was next taken up by L. M. Sandefur. M. M. Faugender would have us be very careful in drawing out the thought contained in the printed page, and, also, to take careful care of the backward pupils, rather than the more apt ones. We were next entertained by our Instructor on the same subject.

Second—The study of the "Old Oaken Bucket" was omitted for the "Star Spangled Banner." After this was discussed, the Instructor gave us a talk on reading, which was enjoyed by all. Recess.

Use of the County Library was ably discussed by W. S. Hill. A. P. Taylor then gave us some good advice on Appropriate Literature for Teachers.

Necessity for the Early Formation of the Reading Habit was well handled by E. W. Patterson. He believes training in the reading habit to be as essential to the mental faculties as food is to the physical body. Our Instructor thinks if we train the young minds so as to form a habit of reading good literature, it will prevent many crimes. M. M. Faugender then gave us some good advice as to our using the library.

Third—Grammar. The subject of When to Introduce Language Lessons was taken up by Miss Dora Gibson. She would begin with conversational language as soon as they enter school.

Paper on Primary Grammar was next read by Miss Mary Bennett. Marvin Black would follow one text book in teaching advanced grammar. After this the Institute was honored with a talk by Prof. C. H. Ellis, one of Ohio county's former teachers. He would have us teach the pupil correct language by example.

After a few remarks by the Instructor, the body was adjourned to meet at 8:30 a. m. Wednesday.

Institute was called to order by Supt. DeWeese, August 26, 1903. In the absence of Judge J. P. Miller, Prof. Chapman conducted devotional exercises.

Next, roll was called, there being seventy-eight members present and thirty-five absent.

Minutes were then read and approved.

The regular work was taken up, first noticing and discussing a model program for the daily work in school, which was arranged by M. D. Maddox.

The Instructor placed the subject of correcting language of pupils before the Institute for discussion. F. L. Sandefur would correct the mistake of the pupil as soon as they are made if possible.

Our Instructor then gave us a short talk on the common errors in the use of our language.

Second—Arithmetic. F. L. Sandefur discussed the comparative value of Mental Arithmetic. He thinks it should precede the other work, but continue all through it. Jesse Rock and Clarence Allen were called on to discuss Business Methods.

Practical Illustrations of the rules of Mensuration were ably discussed by Prof. O. M. Shultz and the Instructor.

Third—Hygiene. Necessity of Early Instruction by R. H. Miller. He would have us teach the child to form good habits early in life, as that is the only way in which they may preserve their health.

Should Teachers use Tobacco? was taken up by W. R. Carson and Oza Shultz. Mr. Carson does not use tobacco on the school ground and don't allow his pupils to use it. Mr. Shultz thinks that many things indulged in by the teachers are more injurious than using tobacco and permits the use of it on the school ground if they are in the habit of using it in other places.

V. M. Moseley talked to us on the subject of Physical Culture in the common school. He advises that we give them plenty of time to exercise the muscles and encourage them to take in a good and profitable manner.

Prof. O. M. Shultz gave us a talk on How to Conduct Lessons in Physiology so as to make them most beneficial to the pupil. He thinks to have a strong mind they must have a strong body and he would have the lesson in Physiology so conducted as to give them a clear understanding of how they should take Nature's remedy.

The Proper Treatment for a Sprained Ankle.

As a rule a man will feel well satisfied if he can hobble around on crutches two or three weeks after spraining his ankle, and it is usually two or three months before he has fully recovered. This is an unnecessary loss of time, for in many cases in which Chamberlain's Pain Balm has been promptly and freely applied, a complete cure has been effected in less than a week's time, and in some cases within three days. For Sale by J. H. Williams.

Mr. D. P. Daugherty, well known throughout Mercer and Sumner counties, Va., most likely owes his life to the kindness of a neighbor. He was almost hopelessly afflicted with diarrhoea. CAL P. KNOWN, S. O. C.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidney, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects acidity of the stomach and builds up the system, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go "often" during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail.

Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Home of Swamp-Root, Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake; but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
